

For Immediate Release

FMX Launches New AVF Multimeter

New Digital Panel Meter at FactoryMation Streamlines Functionality

Canton, GA – January 27, 2019 – FactoryMation has introduced a new PML Digital Panel Meter, the AVF Multimeter. The AVF (or Amps – Volts – Frequency) Multimeter streamlines the PML meter series by integrating the functionality and features of three models into one. These meters are available at either 12-24VAC/DC or 100-240VAC input power ranges. The multimeter's display is backlit and can be selected in either a negative or positive display style. Each meter is UL Type 4 Listed and ideal for both indoor and outdoor use with an operating temperature range of 14° to 140°F. A separate starburst 4-digit display area is included for customized information display. The entire PML line including the multimeter can be configured by use of the free PML Series Configurator Software. Starting at $65, the FMX AVF Multimeters are just another example of FactoryMation's commitment to offering an unmatched value for industrial control and automation products.

FactoryMation is a nationwide supplier of industrial control products including AC drives, Motors and Motor Controls, Enclosures, HMIs, PLCs, Sensors, and more. Through the cultivation of direct relationships with world-class manufacturers from across the globe, FactoryMation offers competitive pricing on high-quality industrial-grade products. Over 40,000 products are strategically stocked at their distribution center near Atlanta, Georgia and other conveniently located third-party warehouses ensuring that orders ship promptly and arrive when needed. Knowledgeable customer support is available to assist with product selection to make sure you get the items that best fit your application requirements. When considering product quality, availability, delivery, price, and support, you will see FactoryMation is committed to offering an unmatched value and why they should be your go-to source for industrial control and automation products. Orders can be made quick and easy via online, phone, email, or fax. For more information or to request a catalog see www.factorymation.com or call 1-800-972-0436.

For more information, press only:

Chrissy Ortiz
800-972-0436
marketing@factorymation.com